

Child Specialist In Collaborative Cases

Some cases might benefit from using a Mental Health Neutral as a Child Specialist. In traditional divorce, the “voice” of the child(ren) is sometimes lost unless a Guardian Ad Litem or Attorney is appointed for them. Unfortunately, this is usually done after conflict has escalated. The Child Specialist provides the children with a sense of support in a situation where they may feel quite powerless. The feedback from the Child Specialist can be invaluable to the Divorce Coaches as they work with the parents to transition the children to two homes.
